1. There's a land beyond the riv - er
2. When I brush the dew of Jordan,
3. When my journey here is end-ed,
Where the billows nev - er roll,
Soon the time is growing near,
I must cross the great divide,
There the saints will live for-ev - er,
I will live be-yond the riv - er
There'll be someone then to meet me,
'Tis the homeland of the soul.
With my friends and kindred dear.
Take me to the oth - er side.
D.S.-When I'm called to cross the riv-er, Lord, keep holding to my hand.
Blessed Je - sus, be Thou near me, Help me, Lord, always to stand.

1. In this age of strife, be-ware, there's con-fu-sion ev-'ry-where,
2. Sin and crime on earth a-bide, graft and greed are mul-ti-p lied,
3. Homes are bro-ken up by sin, hearts won't let the Sav-ior in.

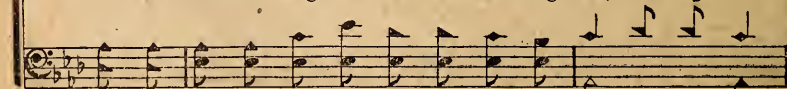

Oft the gath-'ring clouds of dark-ness dim the day, dim the day;
Man-y rul-ers of the land have gone a-stray, gone a-stray;
Sa-tan gath-ers hordes of dark-ness and de-spair, dark de-spair;

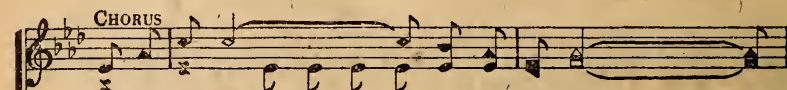

But we must not hes-i-tate, on-ward to the shin-ing gate,
Mil-lions seek for wealth and gold, tales of grief and woe are told,
But be-yond these storms of night still there shines the fade-less light,

Just re-mem-ber Christ is stand-ing by the way, by the way.
But we must not let dis-cour-age-ment hold sway, hold full sway
'Tis the Christ who brings the dawn of morn-ing fair, morn-ing fair
